Supplement 10-82

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9--The Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture today reported the following recent developments in U.S. agricultural trade:

U.S. AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS

U.S. agricultural exports during October dropped 23 percent in volume to 12.1 million tons and 26 percent in value to $2.9 billion from the same month a year ago. Sharp declines in wheat and corn shipments accounted for most of the decline in total volume and value, as prices averaged only slightly lower. The absence of significant grain shipments to the Soviet Union and much smaller wheat exports to China resulted in the big drop in export volume.

U.S. agricultural exports in fiscal 1983 are forecast at $37.5 billion, down 4 percent, although volume is projected up slightly from last year's 158 millions tons.

U.S. exports of wheat in October fell 37 percent in volume from October 1981 to 2.7 million tons because of much lower shipments to China and the absence of exports to the Soviet Union. October U.S. shipments of wheat, wheat flour and products to China dropped about 575,000 tons--or 70 percent--to 258,000 tons, compared with last October. No shipments were made to the USSR in October, compared with almost 460,000 tons in October 1981. Wheat prices were down 6 percent to $158 per ton, yielding a 41-percent drop in total wheat export value.

Corn exports in October dropped 15 percent in volume from October 1981 to 4.2 million tons, primarily because of a sharp drop in shipments to the Soviet Union. Corn exports to the Soviet Union dropped more than 600,000 tons--or 83 percent--to 125,000 tons, compared with a year earlier. Corn prices in October were $100 per ton, 20 percent lower than a year ago, resulting in a 32-percent drop in total corn export value.

Soybean export volume in October dropped 6 percent to 2.6 million tons, with lower shipments to the Netherlands and Japan. Soybean prices stood at $223 per ton, down 15 percent from last October, yielding a 20-percent drop in total export value.

The volume and value of exports of grain sorghum, soybean meal and poultry meat, among others, were down sharply in October. Export volumes of raw cotton and tobacco, however, were up 12 and 16 percent, respectively. The export values of beef and cattle hides were sharply above year-ago levels.

U.S. AGRICULTURAL IMPORTS

U.S. agricultural imports during October 1982--at $1.48 billion--were up 1 percent from the same month a year ago. Import volume for the first month of the new fiscal year was down 2 percent from a year earlier.

Sugar and tropical product imports, at $663 million, accounted for nearly half of the total import value in October 1982, down 3 percent. Fruit and vegetable imports totaling $375.5 million were up 14 percent and dairy product imports of $55.3 million were up 18 percent over the pace set in October a year ago. Grain and feeds and livestock and livestock product imports were up slightly from October 1981. All other major commodity groupings registered declines in import values, led by oilseeds and oilseed products--down 27 percent.

Products showing increases in import value were: coffee, $318.6 million, up 39 percent; beef, $132.4 million, up 6 percent; fruit juice concentrate, $73.6 million, up 156 percent; bananas, $53.4 million, up 12 percent; and pork, $52.7 million, up 17 percent.

Decreases in import value occurred for the following products in October 1982: sugar and related items, $184.1 million, down 27 percent; wine, $100.8 million, down 7 percent; cocoa and products, $62.2 million, down 22 percent; and rubber and allied gums, $44.2 million, down 40 percent.

AGRICULTURAL TRADE BALANCE

U.S. trade activity in October 1982 resulted in an agricultural surplus of $1.4 billion, down 44 percent from the $2.5-billion surplus recorded in October 1981.
